Healthcare IT M&A Environment Executive Summary for Q1 2021

- Q1 2021 was a record-setting guarter for Healthcare IT M&A
 - 130 transactions took place in the first quarter of 2021
 - Investor confidence and excitement that took root in the second half of last year continued to grow, reflected in public and private market activity

Quarterly M&A Deal Volume

- Notable Healthcare IT M&A transactions (outlined in detail on following pages)
 - Modernizing Medicine's acquisition of orthopedic EMR Excribe
 - Net Health's acquisition of PointRight and Casamba
 - Zyter's acquisition of Casenet
- IPO, SPAC and financing activity continues to reach new heights
 - $6.7 billion in digital health funding during Q1, significantly exceeding any prior period

Trends to watch in 2021

- Evolving adoption of telemedicine and remote care capabilities, with a maturing and consolidation of platforms (but with a more meaningful return to traditional care settings)
- Continued focus on behavioral health and primary care
- Increasing push for commercial acceptance of solutions to bridge historical silos of clinical capabilities, operational expertise and information management to improve cost, guality and access

Deals in Strategic Focus Modernizing Medicine Acquires Excribe

	Background	 After two acquisitions 6-7 years ago (for a Gastroenterology EMR solution, and for RCM/ Group Purchasing applications (2014, Aesyntix)), Modernizing Medicine (MM) is back on the path of rolling up specialty EMRs with the January 2021 acquisition of Exscribe, an EMR for Orthopedics. The company now offers organically developed and acquired EMR/PM solutions in roughly 10 physician specialty practice areas. This has created a strong customer base for add on offerings in Telehealth, RCM, Group Purchasing, Analytics, and Population Health.
	Opportunities	 The physician market contains many specialties with unique EMR requirements. MM is well positioned to continue to expand into other physician specialty segments via organic extension to its own in house developed EMR software platform. Or, by inorganic acquisition of smaller specialty EMRs, like Exscribe.
exscribe Orthopaedic Healthcare Solutions	Challenges	 The proliferation of technology platforms to develop and enhance within the company creates innovation challenges. Can the company keep up with smaller and more focused providers in each segment? Can it deliver adequate value with the add on solutions to become the major 'platform' provider to most or all of the primary care physician specialty sub segments? Each add on application requires deep expertise in technology, healthcare domain know how, and solution delivery execution. Can the organization continue to attract, retain, and deliver this varied expertise?
	What To Watch For	 More acquisitions of specialty EMR and practice management companies. More acquisition of strategic add on application companies. More indication that MM is becoming something like the 'Cerner' of specialty MD practices. Larger and more expensive acquisitions that put more of the 2017 $231M investment from Warburg Pincus into play.

Deals in Strategic Focus Net Health Acquires PointRight and Casamba

PointRight

Net Health.

Background	 With four acquisitions in less than two years, private equity backed Net Health looks to have an ongoing appetite for post acute care centric software solutions. The company now owns both major therapy management solutions (Optima and Casamba) used by Skilled Nursing Facilities (SNFs) in the United States, in addition to a leading analytics platform.
Opportunities	 The PointRight acquisition makes Net Health the leader in the market for post acute care data analytics, including assessments, payment model performance, quality of care, and performance scoring of facilities. The same technologies and solution focus can help deliver new solutions for the therapy, wound management, hospice, and healthcare employee solution lines of business.
Challenges	 The pandemic has driven a large surge in demand for Telehealth solutions. Net Health is not playing in this segment so far. It is late to be building something organically, and any acquisitions will likely be quite expensive. Can the company EMR/EHR solutions address the growing requirements for continuity of care data integration as patients transition between care settings?
What To Watch For	 Will the company build, buy, or build and buy its way to more cross platform depth in analytics? What new value can the company provide to the elderly and skilled nursing facilities with full ownership of the SNF therapy EMR market in the USA?

Deals in Strategic Focus Zyter Acquires Casenet

	Background	 Zyter was founded in 2017 from technology platforms owned and developed by serial entrepreneur Sanjay Govil. The companies 'core' software platform is installed and operating in the USA DoD and VA organizations, where it is used for clinical workflow management including Telehealth capabilities. The February 2021 acquisition of Casenet adds one of the healthtech industries most powerful data integration and population health data management platforms to the Zyter portfolio.
Syter	Opportunities	 There are several potential synergies for Zyter and Casenet. Casenet can potentially incorporate large DoD and VA population health data sets into their existing data platforms. Zyter gets a leading developer/extender of the various FHIR application servers driving next generation healthcare data interoperability, as a complement to its existing EDI Manager platform.
Casenet Aligning Care. Advancing Health.	Challenges	 Can the combined companies simultaneously focus on both commercial provider/payer growth and the large government deals/accounts? How rapidly can the backend population health data engines of Casenet treat home health settings and patients as equal data citizens to the primary, acute, and post acute settings?
	What To Watch For	 New population health data offerings for CMS to help drive CMS cost reduction across all care settings. New incentives for payers to shift care to the in-home model using both Telehealth and targeted patient analytics.
